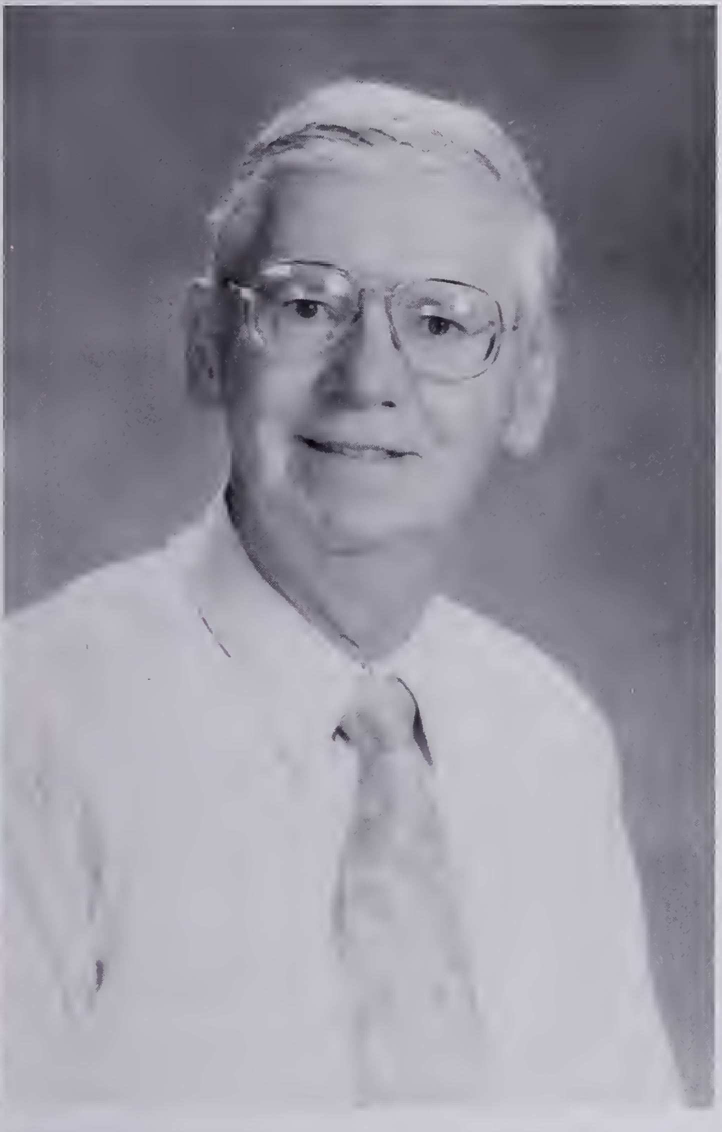
Dedication Robert Potvin



An early morning field trip to the cafeteria for breakfast, "on the house", a cheerful, "Dieu Merci, C'est Vendredi! (TGIF)", a daily "Bonjour les feilles (hello leaves!)", or a convincing "Ma classe favorite!", Mr. Potvin always knows what to do and say to cheer up his students on those not so cheerful mornings. He knows how to stimulate quality French conversation by asking his students if they have lives on the weekends or if they merely lock themselves in their dark closets for 48 hours. Mais, C'est Amerique, non? He understands what students are going through and permits an occasional nap when necessary. He never ceases to amaze his students with his witty commentary on their artistic (kindergarten level) displays on the backs of their quizzes.

Along with being everybody's friend, Mr. Potvin is a dedicated faculty member. He has taught French III, IV, and V AP at LHS for 28 years, and was the yearbook advisor for 8 years. Without all the updated technology, Mr. Potvin put countless hours into the perfection of each year's Masacksic. He was always willing to stay the extra hour at school to help the editors meet their deadlines. He has also been a major source of advice for this year's Masacksic.

Mr. Potvin's dedication extends beyond the classroom as well. He has chaperoned numerous trips, both internationally and within the country. For years, Mr. Potvin has sacrificed his peaceful April and February vacations to look after 40 ruthless students roaming France and beyond. His knowledge of the French culture is vast and he continuously shares his knowledge with others. Whether through the supervision of Foreign Language Week or the organization of a Friday afternoon picnic with French bread and Boursin cheese, Mr. Potvin always has a creative method for enlightenment. For these reasons and many more, it is our pleasure to dedicate the 1996 Masacksic to Monsieur Potvin.

A Time To... Move On

Seniors

From Your Advisors:

As a new teacher to Longmeadow High School, I wasn't sure exactly what to expect when I signed on to be one of the advisors for the Class of 1996. I knew your class had already run successful fundraising drives and a terrific Sophomore Lock-In, so I hoped that your class would be active and exciting in your junior and senior years. Now, halfway through your senior year, I can say that I have definitely not been disappointed. The class of 1996 has been fortunate enough to have dedicated class officers and great turnout at class council meetings. We've had two very special semi-formals and lots of school dances. Remember dancing to "YMCA"? Nick Martinelli and Matt McGarry inspired us to attend events with their thrilling afternoon announcements. Mr. Slate has kept us all entertained with his nicknames for everyone. The senior breakfasts have been a great way to bring the class together. Right now, rehearsals for "Bye Bye Birdie" are beginning, and I think the play will be a tremendous success. I look forward to the Class of '96 prom, banquet, and graduation, and I thank all of you for being such an active and enthusiastic class. I've enjoyed getting to know so many of you, and I wish you all the best of luck in the future!

Susan Burns

I have been very fortunate to be a class advisor for the Class of '96. Congradulations to the very fine class officers that I worked with during the past four years. I would like to thank Nick, Kim, Andrea, Ellie, Sherry, Matt, Jeff, and Brian for making my job as class advisor much easier. I would also like to thank my three co-advisors, Ms. Blake, Mrs. Boyer and Ms. Burns... hummmm I guess they should be called the three B's. The past four years have really flown by. Four years ago you were in eigth grade eagerly awaiting your arrival at L.H.S.

Remember:

-The first class activity... November 1992 selling hot dogs, burgers etc. at the Daisy/Weeds game. I believe we made a huge profit of $100. But it was fun.

-The great dues drive. Almost half the class paid dues freshman year. Candy sales freshman and sophomore year involved a great number of class members.

-Spring of '94... Sophomore Dinner Dance at Bay Path College-almost 100% attendance. The Sophomore Hike at Skinner Mountain. I know Mrs. Boyer will never forget blazing her own trail.

-Junior year Halloween Dance... we did all the work, seniors reaped all the benefit. Junior/Senior Semi was a huge success.

-all the meetings to determine a date for the Class Play... March was out... how about November... on second thought how about April... Bye Bye Birdie... Thanks Moms

-The non Halloween Dance of 1995... Somehow spring will be better.

I eagerly await the remainder of this year. Graduation day will be very special for the Slate family. I know the Class of '96 will have an outstanding Senior Play, Prom and High Meadow visit and all other senior activities. Best of luck to every member of the Class of '96. Thanks.

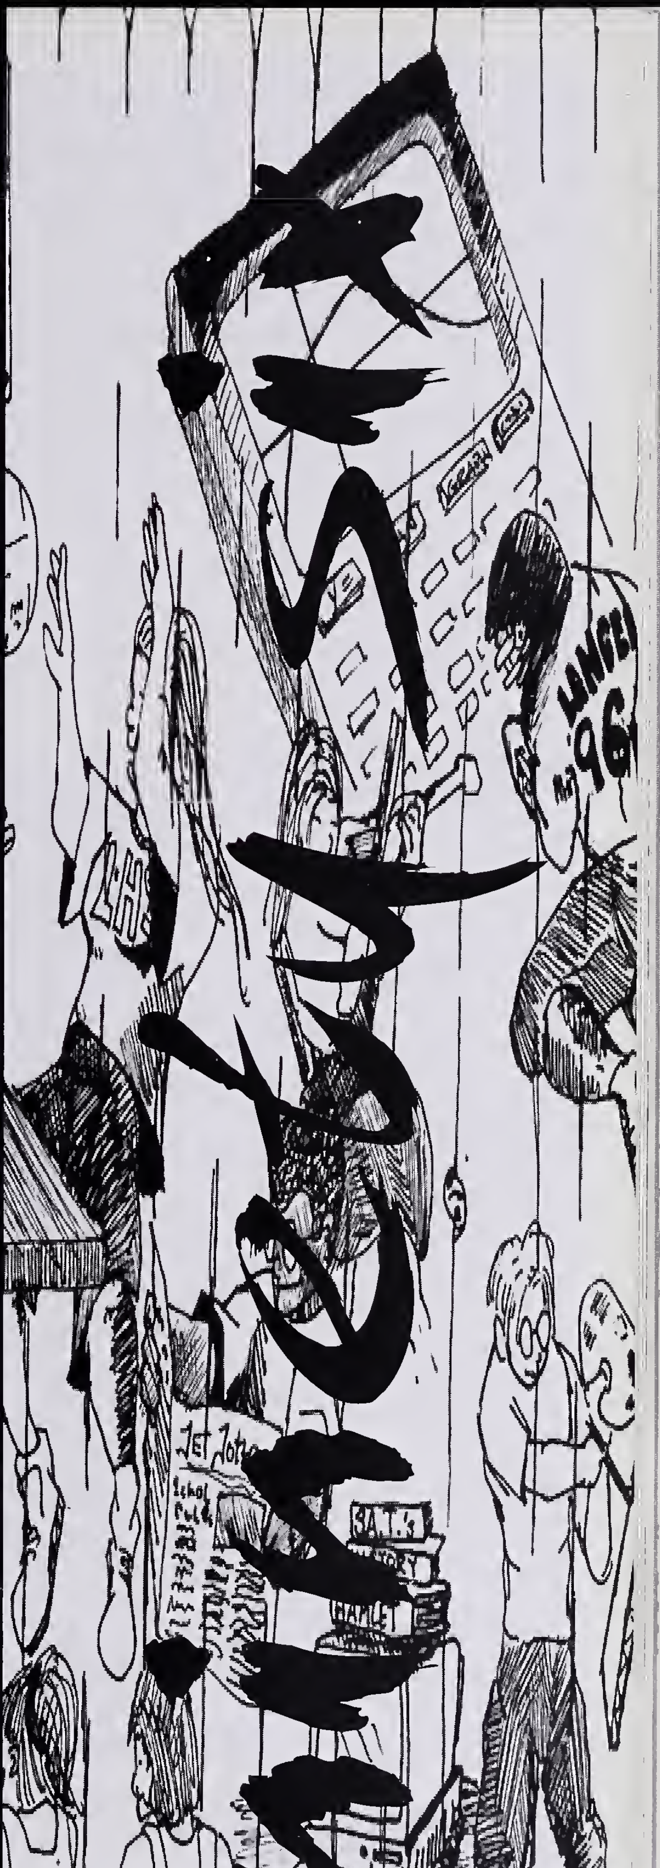
A Time To... Run Around

Sports



Football

"A good cliche to describe our season would be that we were so close, yet so far away. I think it's sad that our record doesn't accurately reflect our abilities," replied John Betzold, co-captain of the Varsity football team. Betzold was an All-League Award winner for offensive play, along with fellow captain Gary Berte, and seniors Mike Dunn and Chuck Toye. Coach Rotsko and team members were pleased with their win over Northapton, which at the time was undefeated. Rotsko believes that the team really came together this year, and seemed to enjoy it. He says, "They had a great work ethic."

The J.V. team ended their season with a record at 6-1-1, and were led by captains Tim Foley, Eric Merrill, and Jason Weiner. Although the Freshmen team suffered two great losses, they pulled through and had a decent season, finishing 5-3.

Cheerleading

"Come on now, everybody join in: Go! Lancers! Go! Lancers!" This is only one of the many cheers performed by this year's LHS Varsity and Junior Varsity cheerleaders. The Varsity coach, Mrs. Diaz, along with the captains—senior Ellie Matroni, junior Danielle Diaz, and alternate captain, senior Wendy Winn—helped the team to raise school spirit of the teams, the Pep Band, and the crowds of parents and other faithful spectators. The Varsity team also was honored with fourth place in this year's Shepherd Hill High School Invitational Competition, in Dudley, Massachusetts. This was quite an opportunity because, according to Coach Diaz, "Very few teams from Western Massachusetts attended." However, the most significant part of the season, Coach Diaz believes, "are the football games, because we not only represent our team or the football team—we represent LHS in general."

"A lot of people don't realize how much time and effort it takes to be a cheerleader, but hopefully when they see us cheer, they'll respect all our hard work."- Danielle Diaz

Boys' Soccer

Boys' varsity soccer had an excellent season this year, ending with a record of 12-3-5. A major highlight of the season included beating two nationally ranked teams in one week: Cathedral and Ludlow. The team also reached the Western Mass. Semifinals. Led by Coach Pantuosco and senior captains Ed Cerrone, John Harrelson, Jay Warwick and Mike Wilson, other key players included Mike White, Nick Martinelli, Scott Kellman, Ben Harwood and Andy Mish. According to Harrelson, "The coaches' motivation really got the team together." Added senior Kevin Hennessy, " I think we had a successful season and all grew as individuals and team players. "

Junior varsity was coached by Mike McCarthy, and captains were Kyler Brown, David Patterson and Matt McCarthy. Said Coach McCarthy, " J.V. has really improved their skills and teamwork. Many players will be ready to help varsity next year."

Girls' Soccer

When asked to desribe the 1995 Varsity girls' soccer season, Coach Bob Delano remarked without hesitation, "It was the best season ever!" This is not an exaggeration, considering that the team advanced to the Division 1 Semifinals and boasted a record of 15-4-1. The captains were seniors Angie Napoli, Jenna Szyluk, Kim Weeks and Kristen Arnold. Delano continued to say that every team member had been an important player. "I can't think of a single person who can say they didn't make a contribution."

The JV team also had a great season. "It was really special," said Coach Roger LeBlanc. The team had a record of 13-2-3. Captains were juniors Lyndsay Adams and Roxanne Stahl, and sophomores Cassie Marantz and Bridget O'Connor. Other key players were Jessica White, Lauren Lurant, Suzie Carazza and Meghan Martin.

The Freshman team had a record of 11-2-3, and were assisted by Coach Bussolari and captains Meghan McCormick, Lexi Holden, and Laurie Williams.

Cross Country

Although cross country is not often recognized as a spectator sport, they have broken the mold this year. At meets, runners complete a course that ranges from 2.7 miles to 3.1. Says Coach Wells, "You would think you would complaints, but I never do. They know that what they are doing in each of their difficult workouts will aid them in competition."

And help them, it has. Both the boys' and girls' team have had excellent seasons. Their records were 10-1, and 8-3, respectively. At the Western Mass Championships, the boy's team finished fifth, and the girls took home a very impressive second place. The second place finish allowed the girls to go to the State Championships, for the second year in a row.

The teams captains for the boys were Bob Browne, Chris Moran, Jason Roberts, and Jeremy Gershen, and the girs were led by Lynette Grypp, Sing Sing Wu, Andrea Bullock, Helen Yearwood and Sherry Spitz. Among the top runners for the boy's team were senior captain Bob Browne, freshman Trip Young, sophomore Andrew Camp, senior Adam Gorfin and senio captain Jeremy Gershen. Girls leading the pack were junior Sian Wu, sophomore Jen Hamlin, freshman Katie Ward, junior Adrienne Swiatocha, and senior captain Lynette Grypp. Says Wells, "The key to the team's success, I think, was not a 'sta runner', but how closely the team ran together."

Gymnastics

Longmeadow High School's gymnastics team may hold the next Mary Lou Retton or Nicole Miller, with its diverse combination of skill, elegance and discipline. However, despite the fact that this sport requires the most amount of energy and talent, the bleachers are quite often empty.

This year, the LHS gymanstics team is managed by Missy and Mandy Corbert, who along with captains Katie Julian, Heather Orenstein, and Jen Caroll and Coach Harvey Stockhammer, helped to vault the team into a season, which, although not neccessarily successful, was spirited nonetheless.

Many members of the team feel that, had they more supporters, the meets would have certainly ended differently. Team Managers Missy and Mandy Corbert point out how strange it is that the public must pay for football games, while despite the fact that gymnastics meets are free, no one comes to their competitions.

Boys' Basketball

With a record of 13-8 and participation in the quarter-finals of the division tournament, the 1995-1996 LHS Varsity boys' basketball team has completed yet another phenomenal season. With the help of returning coach Brian Cogswell and senior captains Tim Allen and Pat Murphy, the team was led to victory repeatedly over many other talented division teams. According to Cogswell, the reason for this great performance was, "We worked well together and played as a group. Each player made a different contribution and every individual improved as the season went on." Although the team itself was not the recipient of awards, its individual members recieved high honors. Tim Allen and Taylor Blinn were named as Athletes of the Week, and Coach Cogswell believes that at least one member of the team will be promoted to All-League status. With this much hard work and effort, this year's Varsity team is one which LHS can take pride in.

The Junior Varsity and Freshmen teams also had outstanding seasons. The J.V. team, coached by John Mayl, and led by captains Josh Allen and Andy Mercurio, boasted an impressive record of 13-6, and the Freshmen, with coach Charles Manheim, demonstrated its amazing potential with a record of 17-2.

The team was led by senior captains, Sam Ryall, Angie Napoli, Jen Kiley and Marissa Ciccia. With the help of these talented ladies, the team qualified for the Western Mass tournament . Said Varsity Coach Mary Murra of the season, "I had expected this year to be a rebuilding year, but the girls gave it their all and we had a great season. The leadership of the captains really pulled us through. Our success was due to the fact that we were a team of balance.

The Junior Varsity team finished the season with a record of 8-11. The team alternated capitains, allowing each player to take on leadership responsibilities in different games. Commented Junior Varsity Coach Renkowitz, "They were a hard working group of ladies who always gave a nice effort and I am very proud of that. All fourteen were key players because they all worked hard and were very serious about their games and the competition as a whole."

The Freshmen team also had a remarkable season, with only one narrow loss to Cathedral making their record 14- The key to success was how hard they worked, especially on defense, according to Coach Flynn. "They all worked really well together. I'm looking forward to seeing them play on J.V. and varsity in a few years. They hold great promise for the Longmeadow Varsity teams of the future."

Boys' Swimming

Success was in the air, or rather, water for the boys' swim team, coached by Eric Mandel and TJ Black and led by captains Greg Angelides and Shaun Cullinan. The team ended the season with an impressive record of 4-6. In addition to the success in terms of meets won, they also saw a large number of Western Mass and State qualifiers. In order to qualif a talented and dedicated swimmer must achieve a certain time in his or her respective event. Swimmers this year who fell into this elite group include senior captain Greg Angelides, juniors Larry Nuger, Scott Åigen, All Rodriguez, Sean Egan and Matt Schill. According to Angelides, "This is the first year I've been here, I feel that we've really pulled together as a team. Our sense of unity and comraderie helped us to achieve the success throughout the season that we did."

Wrestling

Most people don't realize that wrestling is a lot harder than it looks, and this year the LHS team worked hard to end the season on a positive note. The team was led by senior captains Nick Shih, Mike LaBroad and Seth Zimring, and coached by Glenn Lowery. All members tried their hardest, portrayed team unity and did exceptionally well during each meet.

The team always gave it their best shot, but really stood out against Westfield, Putnam, and West Springfield. The entire team went to the Western Mass tournament, and most seniors placed well. Some key members were seniors Brian Olney and Dmitri Pereplyotchik, junior Erik Turnberg and sophomore Br Wezowicz. Senior captain Mike LaBroad summed up the season by saying, "This year we established unity as a team. I a confident that our younger wrestlers will find a great amount of success over the next couple of years."

Skiing

The ski team fiercely confronted the cold winter season and represented LHS well on the slopes. Both the boys' a girls' teams were motivated by coach Mike Belanger, and were made up of strong skiers who helped guide the team to one their best seasons ever. The girls' team scored remarkably well, placing first in 3 out of 7 meets, rounding out the season coming out number one in their division. Captains Katie Derosier and Tiffany Brinkman placed in the top two. Sisters Melissa and Alice Crandall also placed in the top 20. The team also skied their way to the state meet, where they placed 11th. "We had a good time and we're looking foward to next year," said Brinkman.

The boys' team qualified for Western Mass, as well as States, all the while showing their enthusiasm and love for the sport. Led by supportive captains Court Prestia, John Buchanan and Rich Blanchard, they placed fourth in their division. "As a whole," concluded Prestia, "the ski team had its best season ever in history."

Organizations

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society is composed of students which have met certain grade standards throughout their high school career. Despite its limitation to upperclassmen, it is a very large organization of hard-working students. Together, they volunteer for community service projects. In school, NHS members tutor other students under the direction of tutoring chairs Elizabeth Derby, Kate Phelps, and Karen Tang. NHS students also take the burden off of Mr. Gelinas who has previously run the book store during lunchtimes. Bookstore Manager Kim Schneider takes care of organizing this. Finally, NHS students aid the middle schools through theGeoffrey Lynn Mentor Program which is directed by Lindsay DeSantis.

On November 1st, NHS held its Induction where a large number of juniors and seniors were welcomed into the society. After that, meetings are held twice a month for organizational purposes.

Other officers are Laura Glazer, President; Michael Pacella, Vice-president; Darcy Weiner, Secretary; and Mark Leichthammer, Treasurer, all seniors who are advised by Ms. Cushman and Ms. Harrington.

Key Club

Key Club is a prestigious club whose sole purpose is to serve and protect the community.

Club members are involved in fund raisers like their concession stands at football and basketball games and volunteer for numerous local charities. Within the club, there are interclub dances with Key Clubs from all over the area, such as Springfield Central High School and MacDuffie. There is also an annual convention which they attend. The conference is the highlight of the year for many because they have and opportunity to meet Key Clubs from all over New England.

This year, the Key Club also purchased and maintained a television bulletin board in the cafeteria.

The club is primarily led by faculty advisor Mrs. Browne and President Sue Scully, a senior. The club is composed of many students from all grades and usually holds meetings every other week.

International Club

This year's International Club has been busy in achieving its goals of promoting multi-cultural awareness, helping out local charities, and participating in Model United Nations. Led by co-presidents Albert Lee and Rachel Steiner and advised by Mr. Santos, the International Club has participated in several activities since the beginning of the year.

Some other club leaders are senior Debbie Chang, Director of Special Projects; junior Izzy Gordan, Coordinator of Ways and Means; and junior Shelley Lavin, Coordinator of Charities.

In addition to helping out at Loaves n' Fishes every other week and organizing fund raisers such as the popular Human-I-tees, the club held Racial Awareness Day in February and decorated the Open Space with flags of the different countries.

Ten students in the club participated in the Harvard Model United Nations, a simulation of the U.N. organized by Harvard students.

The International Club has had an enormous amount of success this year in its goal to bring the school and the community closer together.

A. F. S.

Each year, the LHS community is expanded by international students. These students are in Longmeadow via the AFS club, who is also notorious for their annual presence at Longmeaddowe Days. This year, the fearless leaders of the club are presidents Catherine Zollmann and Michelle Kuhr, vice presidents Jeremy Gershen and David Mish, secretary Courtney Snelham, treasurer Matt McGarry, publicity chairs Ellie Kline and Chanel Dubofsky, committee chair Molly Shaffer,all seniors, along with club advisor Mr. McCarthy.

In addition to Longmeaddowe Days, which provides the majority of the funds allowing students to travel abroad, the club also sponsors a local exchange, in which international students from surrounding towns come to Longmeadow for a weekend, usually in Febuary. However , if you've made any new international friends this year, namely Ben Strabo from Denmark or Makiko Fuzawa from Japan , then you've experienced first hand what an asset AFS can be to the school and the community. According to president Catherine Zollmann, "AFS is a great way to learn about other countries' cultures."

As Schools Match Wits

An interesting twist occurred this year for the As Schools Match Wits Team. At their first taping, in January versus Williston Academy, the team lost (or so they thought), eliminating them from the competition. Later, they found that one of the questions had two answers and so they were back in the running.

This team is made up of four seniors and one freshman alternate. They areLiz Walat, Chuck Toye, Chris Moran, Bill Steger, and Mike Stevens. Coached by Chris Nuger, students are responsible for researching and preparing for the general knowledge quiz covering an array of topics.

The team made their appearances for three rounds on prime time television on Saturdays on Channel 22. The show was quite popular coming right after Jeopardy, even though host John Baran was no Alex Trebek.

At their second taping against Loomis Chaffee, Longmeadow gave them "a sound whooping," according to Bill Steger, and advanced to oppose St. Joseph's.

The Business Club holds fundraisers and other programs during the year. The major year-long duty of the club is to take care of all the business aspects of The Jet Jotter such as marketing the paper as well as selling advertisements to appear in the paper.

In November, they also held a clothing drive for the Springfield Rescue Mission where clothing could be deposited in the Auditorium showcase. For Valentine's Day, just like many years in the past, the club sold and delivered carnations to other students and teachers in the school. In March, the Business Club, also presented a series of assemblies for the school where speakers from various local businesses were brought in to speak on the topic of Business in the Nineties.

The club was advised by business teacher Mrs. Morse and led by President junior Jason Rome and Vice-President Jacob Tsizis. Other officers were juniors Thu Nguyen and Michelle Brodeur, co secretaries, and senior Jared Brooslin, Treasurer.

Math Team

The Longmeadow High Math Team has had a powerful year. The team attends meets once a month at various schools in the area. There are about 15 schools with which they compete in the Western Massachusetts Math League.

Six students go to each meet led by advisor Mr. Daniels and senior captain Liz Walat and the top three schools in the league go to the state meet in April. Longmeadow has maintained its standing within the top three at the regionals. Each meet consists of six different rounds: Geometry, Arithmetic and Number Theory, Algebra I, Algebra II, Analytic Geometry, and Trigonometry and Complex Numbers.

The team had a strong start when they came in first at the first meet of the season in Palmer.

Science League

In what other club can you jump on a trampoline while someone else simultaneously takes your blood pressure? Where else is taking the heart rate of a fat guinea pig not only required, but encouraged? Certainly in no other organization other than the Science League! Admittedly, this club, with members from all grades, may not be quite as physically demanding as varsity football. Yet the Science League definitely demands lots of quick thinking on one's feet. One Science League meet is held every month at various schools in the state in which science students compete in 3 different events. The events can concern biology, chemistry, physics, or health issues. Members prepare for their event by reading up on their topic, but often the nature of the event is totally unpredictable. Science League takes students a step beyond the classroom by requiring the application of knowledge. Junior Lavanya Kilaru sums it all up by exclaiming, "Science League is so interesting and the meets are really a blast!"

Mock Trial

This year's Mock Trial team pulled through a great season. Mock Trial is a statewide competition which includes many high school from the area. Teams take on the role of the Plaintiff and Defense and went up against opposing teams from other schools. Trials were held in actual courtrooms in Hampden County over which actual judges preside.

The team came out of the competition with two out of a total three courtroom competitions. Members of the team ranged from freshmen to seniors who played roles of lawyers and witnesses.

Unfortunately, the number of snow delays and cancellations created problems in the practice and trial schedules, but the team still managed to pull off a winning season.

The trial pertained to sexual harrassment and team members played students, guidance counselors, teachers, and principals.

"We all feel the same way. We're really not all that far off from one another," says Sandra MacDonald, the faculty advisor of Umoja, a club whose purpose is to promote multicultural unity at LHS. One of Umoja's recent projects was the celebration that occurs at the end of the year. Umoja members dressed in African attire and brought the principles, the symbols (fruits and gifts), and the meaning of Kwanzaa to students in town elementary schools. MacDonald hopes to extend Umoja's efforts to volunteering in both Longmeadow and Springfield through tutoring younger students.

The club meets every other week and "For a three-year-old group, we are doing very well. We have really come a long way," said Armand Hill.

Amnesty International

A candle wrapped with barbed wire is not only the symbol for Amnesty International, it's also a theme. The world wide organization is a group of people that help political prisoners of unfair treatment, regardless of their sex, creed, or political beliefs. They are against the death penalty and are impartial to any government or political system.

Chairperson Amy Maxmen founded the LHS branch of Amnesty International about two years ago. The group was started in the 60's when people started to become aware of the injustices that people face all over the world. From writing holiday cards to prisoners in Libya to the Nigeria Project, Amnesty International is a place where suffering and inequality is recognized and hope is dispersed to the people who need it most.

Debate Team

In the inaugural year of the LHS Debate Team, enough students responded to form two teams, Longmeadow Gold and Longmeadow Red. The teams compete on Wednesdays in January and February against other schools in the Pioneer Valley Debate League. Mr. O'Shea started the league this year and members busily prepared for months prior to the debates by doing extensive research and holding mock debates.

The topic is regarding whether U.S. foreign policy with the People's Republic of China should be changed or not.

Rough Draft

The Rough Draft, many times referred to as the "alternative newspaper," has had a unique year. Considered the more humerous publication, many feel that the Rough Draft is a non-pressure, no deadline organization and therefore have welcomed "poetic impulses."

Despite this lack of urgency, senior Editor-in-Chiefs Dan Ginsburg and Brian Olney managed to put out an issue every few months.

The paper was advised by Mr. Kirkpatrick and aided by numerous senior editors like the Editor of Letter X, Y, and Q. The writing staff was made up of fourteen students, mostly sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Ski Club

What better way to relax after a stressful Thursday of school than to ski the slopes of Longmeadow's favorite local ski area, Mt. Tom. And what better way to spend that time skiing than with your closest school friends. Well, this is exactly how LHS' loyal ski clubers spend five of their Thursdays in January. Every designated Thursday, students in ski club hurry to change for the departure of the 2:30 bus for Mt. Tom. Although this winter did not prove to be the most desirable for skiiers, the not-so-groomed hills of Mt. Tom did provide a relaxing and refreshing way to endulge in some form of athletic activity for these students. Senior Jan Kuhn noted, "Even though the slopes are often rocky and icy and the lines are long and cold, ski club is a great way to touch up on your skiing technique and relax after a long week of school."

ABC

A Better Chance, also known as ABC, has been in Longmeadow since 1974. It is a national organization with 160 chapters nationwide enabling talented minority students to have quality high school educations. Five students live in a supervised residential setting and attend the high school. They live with two resident directors and a live in tutor.

This year, all five students are from the New York area and one weekend a month, they spend time with host families. There are two seniors, one junior, and two sophomores in the program.

For the most part, operating expenses come through private donations from Longmeadow residents, local churches, and local businesses. ABC also holds the annual road race through Longmeadow and a phone-a-thon in the fall, followed by a plant sale in the spring.

METCO

METCO is an acronym for the Metropolitan Council for Education Opportunities. Begun in Boston in 1966, it came to Springfield in 1968. METCO brings inner city kids to suburbs such as Longmeadow. Originally intended to improve the racial imbalance, it was continued because it was considered a plus for suburban students and inner city kids, both of which can learn from each other. METCO is federally funded, and each student who participates in it is paid for through state funds. Each grade level has a certain number of students. As of right now there are fifteen students in LHS. Once a student has entered the school system he or she is expected to meet its criteria both academically and socially.

SADD

SADD, otherwise known as Students Against Drunk Driving, is led by senior Dagmer Fisher. Mrs. Wiseman advises the group, and Mr. Crumb gives ideas at their meetings. The group meets approximately twice a month. "Our program helps to keep people aware of the dangers of drunk driving," said junior Joe O'Brien. Throughout the year, SADD organizes a number of different events. These include selling red ribbons to spectators at sports like at football games in order to raise funds, staging a mock accident to discourage drunk driving, and putting on a dance in December.

The club is composed of students from all grades and open to anyone wishing to join. According to junior Erinn Williams, "SADD is a good opportunity to get involved and make a contribution to the school."

French Club

If you've had the good fortune to find yourself hanging around in the Foreign Language hallway on a Thursday after school, then you've probably noticed a small but loyal group of French speakers congregated inside rm. 219. Who are these language lovers? The French Club!

The club was organized last year by its' advisor, Lisa Rooney, and a few enthusiastic students. Although its membership is small, sophomore Tristina Beale prefers it this way. "Everybody knows everybody and we all work together."

Being a close knit group has its advantages, such as providing an opportunity to take part in many activities. For example, the club has been responsible for numerous bake sales at concerts, a booth at Longmeaddowe Days, a dinner at Madeline's Restaurant in Connecticut, and various trips to Newport.

The members of this sophisticated organization decided to show off their language aptitude by providing a quote in French, which was very distressing to this Spanish student. Senior Catherine Zollmann and junior Cindy Sullivan commented, "Le cercle Francais est amusant, avec beaucoup de personnes tres sympathiques."

Impressions

This year, some of Longmeadow High School's best writers and artists put together some of their finest works and submitted them to Longmeadow High School's literary magazine, Impressions. These students are anxiously waiting to see their work they have toiled over finally in print.

Impressions, compiling many kinds of creative works of the student body, has student editors which decide what goes into the magazine. These include seniors Liz Walat, Katy Weiss, and literary editor Rachel Dress. They have deadlines periodically and many students will rush to complete an artistic work they have perhaps put off.

Says Impressions advisor Ms. McShane, "With Impressions, students have a chance to showcase their talents as writers, artists and creators."

Jet Jotter

Longmeadow High School's more traditional newspaper, The Jet Jotter, provides an outlet for LHS students to present their writing talents before the school and their peers, and also is an excellent way to gain experience in journalism.

The staff on the paper includes a cast of many from all grades as staffwriters and the following upperclassmen editors: Senior Liz Walat, Editor in Chief; Senior Katy Weiss, Managing Editor; Junior Albert Lee, Features; Junior Lavanya Kilaru, Campus News; senior Kim Schneider, Editorials; Senior Karen Tang, Arts and Entertainment; and senior Chanel Dubofsky, Sports.

Walat says in regard to the quality of the paper, "We have tried, and I think successfully, to keep up with the caliber the Jet Jotter has had in past years with the previous editors. It has overall, been a successful year in terms of the talented writers we have, also."

Yearbook

The Yearbook has had a busy year preparing the annual highlights of LHS. Under the direction of faculty advisor Miss Osowski, seniors Jan Kuhn and Debby Levenson, mapped out the entire book and supervised all the work.

An extensive staff of workers assist the editors-in-chiefs. Copy Editors senior Chanel Dubofsky and junior Albert Lee appoint members of the copy staff to write short informational articles which appear on each page. Photography Editors sophomore Swaroop Samant and junior Rachel Steiner supply all the pictures for the book by assigning photo shoots to photography staffers. The business aspects of the Yearbook are dealt with by the business staff under Business Editors Amy Carlson and Adrienne Swiatocha.

Page editors take charge in laying out pages and designating what photos should appear. Senior Courtney Snelham, Student Life Editor; Seniors Becca Stevens and Heather Orenstein, Senior Index Editors; Senior Kate Phelps, the Underclass Editor; and Seniors Debbie Chang and Elizabeth Derby, the Organizations. Of course there are many other staff members who have worked quietly behind the scenes and are not mentioned here but whose efforts are to be commended.

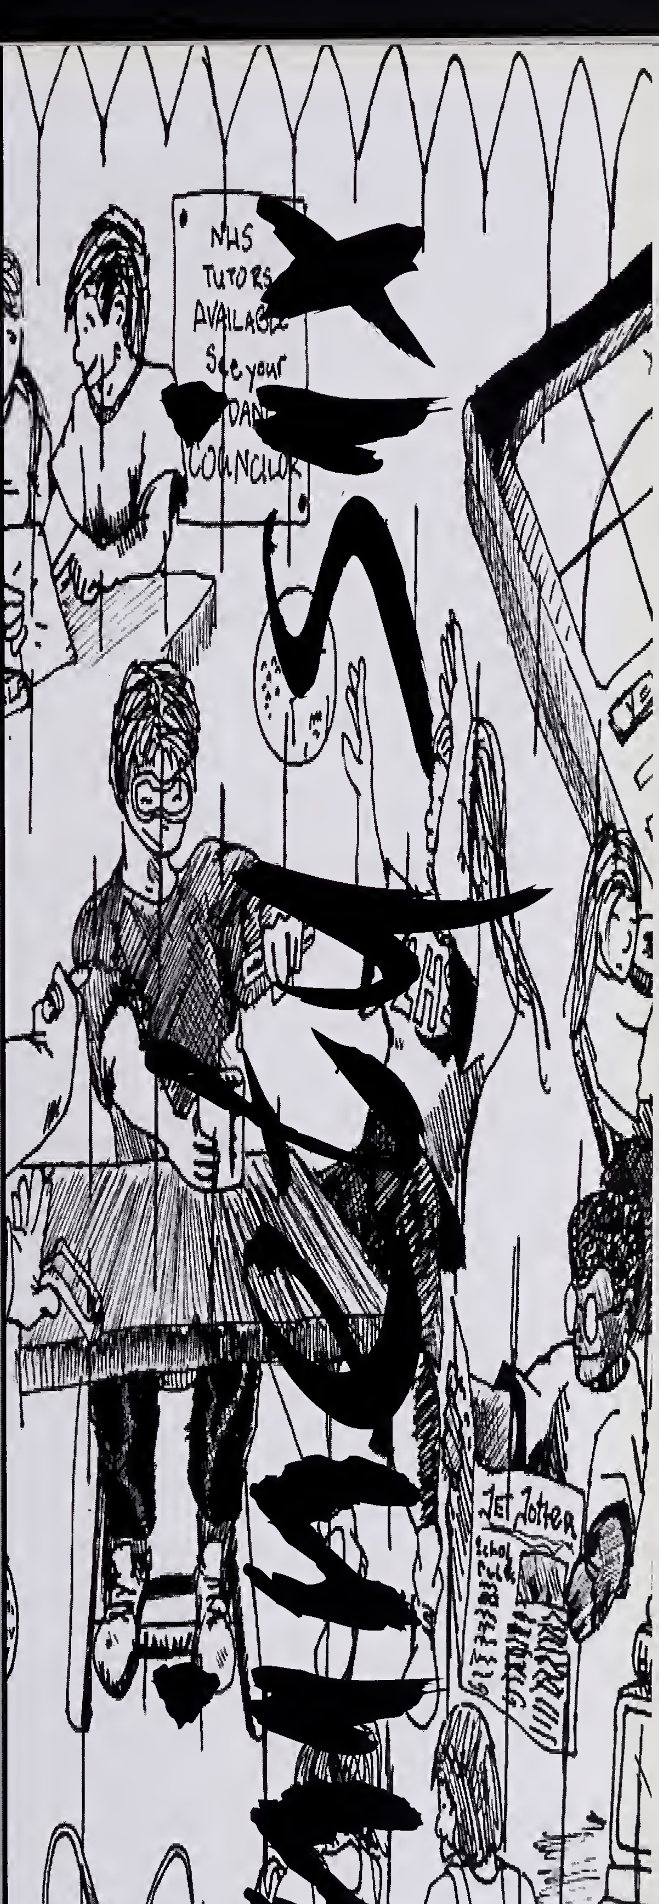
Student Life



Back to School

On the first day of school, students from all classes journeyed into a new frontier as they crossed the threshold. There, the different classes separated into their respective provinces of Lancerland.

The new generation of freshmen, walking through the Forest of Expectation, were overwhelmed with the new teachers and homework, but were filled with anticipation for their new school. Sophomores were looking forward to an easy year free from stress and hard work. The unfortunate juniors, however, descended into the Valley of the Dead. The seniors, on top of the world, on the Mountain of Achievement, needing only to get by the Demon of College Applications journeyed excitedly to Graduationland.

Freshmen Orientation

At 7:30am on Tuesday, August 31st, while most upperclassmen were sound asleep in their beds, all incoming freshmen arrived at Longmeadow High School for their first day of school. They were greeted by Dr. Murphy in the auditorium who welcomed everyone and encouraged the idea of a united freshmen class. The freshmen then had the task of finding their way to all their new classes. They were aided in this venture by friendly upperclassmen as well as teachers who were acting as guides for this confusing day.

They were all given a break during lunch where they could visit the activities fair. There, upperclassmen tried desperately to recruit members to their clubs. Eventually, it all came to an end and the freshmen knew the fate of their next four years.

PepRally

This year's pep rally was of a slightly different nature. Due to various problems with the bonfires of previous years, the entire event had to be moved indoors and the infero of wood platforms was cancelled. Nevertheless, inside the gym, the school spirit was still blazing hotter than ever. The Pep Band indeed delivered their share of pep with the "Cheerleader Strut" while the teams cheered on. Those students who attended the rally not only had the opportunity to watch the extravagant presentations by the cheerleaders, but also had the privilege of seeing something new this year: a film showing clips of the fall teams practicing. It featured interviews of team captains and coaches telling about their outlook on the upcoming season. Even with the change of setting, the pep rally still provided ample entertainment and roused school spirit.

Hitting the Books

Every student at LHS will confessthat he/she has slacked off on a few assignments. But every student will also acknowledge the hard work and study that they have put into many of their classes. Generally, the freshmen are stunned by the amount of work before them after sailing through middle school. Eventually they realize how easy it is. Sophomores probably have the best time because they are used to the work and experience little stress. Junior year, the hardest academic year of the four, is spent almost entirely in the library, researching topics for various papers as well as studying for the numerous test that arise However, there is a reward for completing junior year: SENIOR YEAR! This final year in high school is great because after college applications have been completed, seniors can enjoy their year without worrying about grades, a drastic change from previous years.

Freshmen Backpack: A bag that is full of everything because the student cannot find his/her locker.

Junior Backpack: A bag that is the size of Texas loaded with books that all must be read in one night.

Senior Backpack: Although few exist, many are empty for obvious reasons.

Foreign Exchange

Imagine a better, more exciting place than Longmeadow. Times up- could you think of at least one? This summer, students at LHS expanded their horizons by traveling to assorted foreign countries. Junior Erik Turnberg spent the summer in a small farm town in Paraguay, and also went to school with local students. When asked about his experience, Turnberg described it as "the most amazing thing I've ever done." Junior Amy Carlson and senior Jeremy Gershen also spent the summer in South America, Carlson in Costa Rica and Gershen in Argentina, dividing his time between the country and Buenos Aires. In addition to students who spent their summers and semesters in other parts of the world, LHS also gained two exchange students; Makiko Fuzawa from Japan, and Benjamin Strabo from Denmark. Both are in Longmeadow via the AFS club.

Fads & Fashions

Walking through the halls of LHS, one would notice some strikingly popular fashions circulating throughout the student population-both new and old. Many girls display "kiddy barettes" in their hair while the guys exhibit their college hats (worn either backwards or forwards, either is acceptable).

Of course there are the fashions that will never go out of style. For example, the plaid shirt originally close to the heart of a carpenter or lumberjack, has become a part of every LHS student's closet. Another fashion that seems a prerequisite at LHS is the sandal—either Birkenstocks or Tevas (watch out for clumbsy people with big shoes when you sport those sandals. Ouch!).

There is also a new hair "tool" to accompany the lone scrunchie that came about late last year. It has long teeth and "bites" your hair into place. You cannot forget the classic L.L. Bean Deluxe backpacks in which many students have chosen to hold their hated schoolwork.

Skater type items like Pumas, thermal underwear worn under shorts, and baggy jeans, have retained their popularity with the less preppy people.

Spain Trip

"No para: sigue, sigue." Don't stop; keep on going. This was the theme song for this year's school trip to Madrid, Spain. After a full day of traveling on buses and planes, the group of about 45 took to the streets. In Madrid, with a temperature of about 50° Farenheit, not only did students visit the Royal Palace and the Prado Museum, but they relaxed in the park, shopped the "rebajas" at El Corte Ingles, and had a mid-day snack at any one of the many tapas bars in the city. Under the leadership of our fearless tour guide Gerardo (or "G"), the students experienced many more cultural things then if they were on their own. From El Puerto del Sol (Tio Pepe) to the Plaza Mayor (where students danced the night away during the first day of Carnival '96), students practiced their spanish and found new foods such as paella, tortilla española, and churrrros. However, the trip didn't stop in Madrid. We saw outside the city El Escorial, The Valley of the Fallen, and we also visited Toledo, Avila, Segovia, and Salamanca, with the help of our speedy bus driver Carlos. We saw many gorgeous churches, synagogues, and an abundance of important statues. We even saw the finger of a saint, preserved in a glass case! Students grew more cultured, while teachers suffered from culture shock. Living with forty wild kids on one floor at the Hotel Italia was an "inolvidable " experience. With leaving the key at the desk, bread and soup at every meal, 2 charming waiters, the Pit and the bidet, students will never forget the time they shared in Spain.

Variety Show

If you, like many others, were pleasantly surprised by the appearance of the TV set in the cafeteria, you have the Longmeadow High School Key Club to thank for brightening up your lunch periods and free blocks with pictures and announcements. The event attributed with raising money for this contribution is the Variety Show.

Every year, this evening, completely student organized, is responsible for bringing out the best and the brightest of LHS talent. This year, the show featured senior MC's Yetunde Afolabi, Matt McGarry, Mike Wilson, Brian LaFountain, and Jeff Smith, as well as many acts. Among these were the "Chicks of '96" singing "Respect," junior Abe Libbos and senior Clark Sutton, a band going by the name of Twisty Straws, and senior Darcy Winer, who performed a memorable solo.

The event was run by dedicated and resilient Key Club member Shannon Rafferty with the help of Jen Kubala, Sue Scully, Kim Haberlin, and Laura Glazer, in addition to junior Josh Randall, who was responsible for a superior lightning and technical crew. According to Kubala, "With the help of many students, we pulled it off at the last minute, but it turned out to be a great success."

In addition to earning enough money to furnish the cafeteria with a television, the show also provided an opportunity for the student body to portray their own special and unique talents. Senior Anthony Sarage summed up the evening by saying, "It was a great oppportunity for the talent of LHS to come through in a primetime event."

Jr/Sr Semi-Formal

The junior senior semi-formal is a unique occasion that brings the upperclassmen of LHS together for one special night. For most the night began with an extensive photo session with friends and family and then an expensive dinner at restaurants like the Olive Garden and the Mariott. Afterwards, juniors and seniors as well as some lucky underclassmen poured into the elegantly decorated Chez Josef dressed in fancy gowns and snazzy suits. Although the setting was new, students seemed to have no problem adjusting because the dance floor was crowded all night long during both popular slow and fast songs. Although the dance itself lasted for almost 3 hours, most students agreed that the much anticipated night ended too quickly. This year's juniors and seniors would also agree that despite all the pre-dance tensions of finding a date, a dress, shoes and of course a tie, the dance was a smashing success and provided for a fabulous night with friends and dates.

RPI, Wellesley, Smith, UMass, Mt. Holyoke, Amherst...

What do these colleges have in common?

They're all attended by STCC graduates. You can join the thousands of people in the Greater Springfield area who've gotten the right start, at Springfield Technical Community College. They've used their two years with us as the springboard for an exciting career or a great education.

For instance, there's the Engineering and Science Transfer graduate who won the RPI medallion, awarded every year to an STCC student along with a substantial scholarship, from Rennselaer Polytechnic Institute.

There's the Liberal Arts Transfer graduate who is graduating from Wellesley College and is one of 40 people in the country accepted for a White House internship last spring.

There's the General Studies Transfer student who completed his degree at Amherst College and has gone on to law school

Every year hundreds of STCC students play it smart. They enjoy two years of small classes, individual attention, and a tuition rate that doesn't break the bank. Then they transfer to institutions such as Smith College, Mount Holyoke College, UMass, and fine local four-year colleges to complete their bachelor's degree. Or higher.

You, too can get the right start, at Springfield Technical Community College. Don't limit your options; expand them. For more information, call the STCC Admissions Office at 781-7822, extension 3855.

Pope John Paul II visited the United States in early October of 1995. The 75-year-old pontiff began his five-day visit by addressing the United Nations General Assembly to celebrate the organization's 50th anniversary. During the stay, the pope led outdoor Mass in both New York and New Jersey. Rainy, windy weather did little to dampen the spirits of the faithful who gathered to hear him speak, catch a glimpse of him, or even touch him as he swept past. In Baltimore, he addressed an audience at the baseball stadium and had lunch at a soup kitchen before flying back to Rome.
